

Dr. Paolo Giorgio Arcidiacono is head of the BilioPancreatic Endoscopy and Ecoendoscopy Unit at the IRCCS San Raffaele Hospital in Milan.

He participates as Principal Investigator, international Expert and Group Leader in various research projects such as the International Cancer of the Pancreas Screening (CAPS) Consortium and the European Study Group on Cystic Tumors of the Pancreas (PACYFIC).

He is a member of multiple associations and society such as: the American Society of Gastrointestinal Endoscopy (ASGE), the Italian Association for Neuroendocrine Tumors (ITANET), the International Therapeutic of Endoscopic UltraSonography (EUS), and Co-founder of EUS ITALY - Italian Master Class on Endosonography.

Moreover, he is the first internationally to have experimented the ablative therapy of cryothermoablation under ultrasound guidance for the treatment of pancreatic tumors.